June 2024

I can't believe this is the last newsletter of the school year! I cannot thank you all enough for sharing your children with us! The most important things we wanted to provide for our students were a high quality preschool education in a safe and healthy environment. We are honored to have been your child's first teachers! It has been an absolute pleasure every day to open that door and see their smiles! Thank you for your cooperation, your sacrifices and generosity throughout the year. It is greatly appreciated!

School News

As we enter into the last month of school, we hope that everyone stays healthy and parents make every effort for the best attendance. We have a lot to prepare with our graduating students and lots of fun for all. Everyone will be receiving a final progress report. When you receive it please feel free to contact me to discuss your child's progress and any questions you may have. All of our students also have a few yearlong projects that we are putting together that we will distribute before the end of school. They will definitely be a keepsake. You will love them. Please don't forget to fill out your last "Positively Proud Parents" shape, which is a sun for the month of June. We are sure you are very proud of what your child has accomplished this year and will be able to write something great about them.

Since we are optimistic about the weather, please be sure to dress your child accordingly for the playground for the rest of the school year. No open toed shoes, no slip on shoes, no party shoes, no Crocs, no dresses unless shorts are underneath, no jewelry with the exception of little earrings and no watches. Please be mindful that we are on a playground running, sliding, swinging, etc..

Pre-K information ( graduating to kindergarten students)

As we finish out the school year it is exciting to see all the accomplishments the children have made. We are so proud of them! What growth we have seen! As teachers, we encourage you to continue to work with your child over the summer, particularly in the areas of fine motor, letter recognition, number recognition, rote counting, fostering their independence, and teaching your child their personal information. Personal information includes, full name, parent’s names, phone number, birth date, and address. All of these skills are essential for your child to have mastered before entering kindergarten.

We are confident that we have provided them with “Wings to Fly” like our butterflies. They are ready! Graduation is always bittersweet for me and my staff but having the privilege of watching your children learn and grow all year helps us to let go. We wish you all the best!

Have a wonderful safe and sunny summer!

Love,
